Dear Sir,

With ref to above subject, we have installed & into service 525KVA steam turbine sine Year 2012. Which is under the category of co – generation plant with LT side ( 415v side) synchronization & not to GRID connected. Our main purpose, to generate the steam from boiler is for process application & in between we utilizing the energy to generate the power by use of back pressure turbine. After reduction of pressure & temp we are using the same steam for process application.

Further considering the capacity of turbine it is well below the exempted capacity of 1MW. Hence we are coming under the category of “Obligated Entities” for NOT cover under the requirement of RPO. Further as per your point no 12-C we are in process of getting the certificate from concern authorities for approval on Co – Generation facility.

Hence you are requested to consider our request & consider our unit under the category of exemption from RPO.

Thanking You,

Yours Faithfully,

For M/s Privi Organics India Ltd. ( Unit-II)
